

An aerial photograph of a residential street intersection. The image shows a street running vertically, intersected by a horizontal street. On the left side of the vertical street, there are several trees and a grassy area. On the right side, there are houses, parking lots, and more trees. The intersection is marked with 'STOP' signs. Red vertical bars are placed on the curb and gutter of the vertical street at three different locations, with text labels indicating their widths: 19', 14', and 7' from top to bottom. Another red vertical bar is placed on the curb and gutter of the horizontal street, with a text label indicating a width of 33'.
